The Tiger basketball team will play Nebraska Wesleyan University tonight and games with the University of Nebraska Friday and Saturday nights.

In many respects this is the crisis of the Tiger season. If the Missourians return home with three more victories chalked up to their credit, prospects will look exceedingly bright for a valley championship, as four of the remaining six games after the series with Nebraska will be with Kansas and Washington, both of which schools have lost two games this season to Missouri.

The Nebraska court is the smallest in the Valley and this may prove Missouri's biggest handicap. The Tigers are accustomed to the full-sized court in Rothwell Gymnasium and have had to develop an entirely new style of attack for the smaller floor. Practice the last week has largely been on the cross courts of the gymnasium which correspond approximately to the size of the armory in Lincoln, where the game will be played. It will prove a severe strain on the light Missouri team to play three nights in succession and on the latter two to withstand the onslaughts of a quintet of opponents far larger and heavier.

The squad will come back Sunday and immediately prepare for the Kansas series here which will begin Wednesday night.

Nine men accompanied John F. Miller, coach, to Lincoln. They are Captain Ruby, Vogt, Schroeder, Scott, Browning, Coffey, Lewis, Sessions, and Simpson.

FILES SUIT FOR ATTORNEY FEE

Lawyer Renders Service in Will Contest—Received Only $200.

James H. Whitecotton of Moberly filed suit this morning against Mary Butler and Vincent D. Phelan for $200 which he claims is due him as the unpaid half of an attorney fee.

He states that in 1909, while an attorney in Paris, he was employed by the defendants and that for his services they agreed to pay him $400. He says that he represented them in the Boone County Circuit Court and later in the Missouri Supreme Court. On that day, he says, they paid him $200, but have since refused to pay him the remaining $200.

A. R. Hammett and J. W. Wight of Moberly are attorneys for the plaintiff.

A petition has been filed with the circuit clerk to define the terms of the will of the late William F. Roberts, as the general descriptions of the land found in his will may lead to uncertainty and confusion in future years.

The plaintiffs are Maranda Roberts, Robert L. Roberts, William F. Roberts, Jr., John Calvin Roberts, Charles A. Roberts, Carson O. Roberts, Roy S. Roberts and John T. Sexton, Jr. All live in Boone County, most of them near Hallsville, where the Roberts property is located.

The defendants are Fannie Roberts, Gertrude Bluff, William B. Roberts, Annie Belle Chippen, Minnie Lee Ashley, John N. Roberts and Fannie Estelle Hammond. Fannie Roberts is the widow of Jasper N. Roberts; the other defendants are her children. They live in California.

The will was probated January 17, 1917. Some of the Roberts land has changed hands since then.

Arthur Bruton is attorney for the plaintiffs.
